FOREWORD

The annual reports produced by the Department of Economics serve the purpose of an archive. For every year we record the staff that has been employed, the scientific publications that have been produced, the master and PhD theses that have been supervised, the third-party funded projects that have been conducted, and the seminar presentations that have been organized. In addition we provide information about outreach activities and international visitors. We hope that the readers who flip through the annual reports published on our website will share our own view, namely that the Department of Economics is a vibrant research and teaching institution, whose international staff is tightly connected with the global academic community.

But there exist also many activities that are carried out by the members of the department which are not mentioned in such a report. This includes many of the daily tasks to fulfil our teaching obligations, the department's contribution to the self-administration of the University of Vienna, or the considerable effort that is required to plan and develop our personnel and our curricula. Last year, for example, we established and advertised new tenure-track positions which we are currently trying to fill and which will hopefully be visible in next year's annual report. We have also started the process of revising our master curricula to make them more attractive both to students who want to start a non-academic job in public or private enterprises or NGOs and to those who want to stay in academia and start a career as researchers.

We hope that this report provides useful information for its readers. Should you need additional information please visit our website or get in contact with us. We are always happy to answer your enquiries.

Gerhard Sorger
Professor and Head of Department

EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

---

Personnel

32 full-time faculty consisting of 11 full professors, 3 associate professors, and 18 assistant professors

- 8 administrative staff members (2 of these members VGSE coordinators, externally funded)
- about three dozen guest professors, external lecturers, tutors, teaching assistants, and project assistants
- more than 20 PhD students in the graduate school

Research and publications

Research conducted by members of the Department led to 27 journal articles during the reporting period, many of which appeared in high-profile outlets such as American Economic Journal: Microeconomics, Journal of the European Economic Association, International Economic Review, Journal of Monetary Economics, or Scandinavian Journal of Economics. In addition, 13 working papers were published. Members of the Department were involved in 5 externally funded research projects.

Dissemination of research

The Department hosted almost 100 academic visitors and seminar speakers over the year and our faculty made a similar number of trips to visit other departments and to present their research at conferences and workshops. We organized two series of research seminars, in which 32 speakers presented their research, and hosted two international workshops. Members of the Department contributed also to public debates by giving interviews or public speeches and by expressing their views in the media.

Graduate School

The Department runs its own (externally funded) PhD program, the Vienna Graduate School of Economics, with a current enrollment of more than 20 PhD students. Placements during the reporting period include the University of Düsseldorf and the Vienna University of Technology.

Teaching

The Department offers programs in economics at the Bachelor, Master, and PhD level and it contributes to teaching programs in neighboring disciplines such as business administration, banking and finance, statistics, business informatics, or economics and philosophy. Finally, it is involved in various extension curricula in economics which are open to all students of the University of Vienna.

Administration and service to the profession

Faculty members have contributed part of their time to the administration of the University of Vienna at different levels (Department, Faculty, Rectorate) and have also served in various committees at other institutions. In addition, they have served as referees or held editorial positions for international scientific journals.
